Greetings from President Marsha Au-Maxwell

It is already August and summer is here. Our hot weather is going to be in full swing for the next few months. We had our picnic on July 16th, with over 250 members, family, and friends getting together to enjoy delicious food, play games, and win prizes. I would like to thank Mona Choy and Robert Yu for being the Co-Chairs for our picnic, along with the many helpers.

The City and County of Honolulu has been trying to revitalize the Chinatown area, which includes having jazz concerts at the Sun Yat Sen Park next to Hawaii Theater. There were many prizes donated by downtown businesses.

Chinatown808 is going to have a Mid-Autumn Festival on September 29th from 5 PM to 10 PM and September 30th from 9 AM to 10 PM at the Cultural Plaza. There will be food booths, crafts, entertainment, and other activities.

Last December, UCS had an Inaugural Hall of Honor Award and was awarded to Victor Lim. We look forward to honoring our second recipient this year during our installation! The Hall of Honor award recognizes a well-rounded individual who has significantly contributed to the Chinese community and community at large in Hawaii.

Please stay safe and always be aware of your surroundings.

Xie Xie and Mahalo,

Marsha S. Y. Au-Maxwell

Aloha !

The world has gotten a lot more complex in recent years. We have seen more changes in the world in the last 4 years than we have seen in the last 40 – and yet there is so much more to come. But with economic, political, career, business, and pandemic volatility all around us, it's all too easy to fall prey to a swirl of negative thinking — with the result that you lose sight of the fascinating opportunities from what comes next. It's time to turn your mind to the future once again, restore a sense of hope and optimism, and link yourself to the fast-paced trends which energize your outlook on opportunity!

Organization of Chinese American Women – Hawaii Chapter

June 2023

By Queenie Mow Chee

On Sunday, May 21, 2023, the Hawaii Chapter held its second General Membership Meeting of the year at the Maple Garden restaurant in Honolulu.

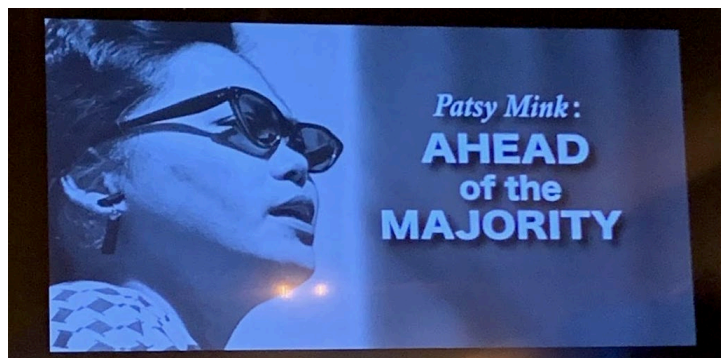

Sixteen members and fourteen guests enjoyed a decadent nine-course Cantonese-style lunch, no dim-sum! Of course, the highlight of the meeting was not the food, although it was a close second. Our own Wendie Liu delivered a heartfelt invocation.

We were happy to have an independent documentary film producer share with us some of her prize-winning productions and hear her story. Kimberlee Bassford is born and raised in Hawaii, and the great grand-daughter of a prominent Honolulu Chinatown businessman and philanthropist in the early to mid-20th century, the late Mr. C.Q. Yee Hop.

Kimberlee, or Kim, for short, is an alumnus of Punahou School, received her Bachelor's Degree from Harvard, and a Master Degree in Journalism from U.C. Berkeley. Married with two little children, she juggles her career and interests with a healthy family life. Her productions advocate gender equity and diversity in films and television, some of which have garnered film festival awards and were shown nationwide on PBS as early as 2009.

Her first clip that she shared with us featured the first Asian American woman of color to serve in the United States Congress in 1965, Hawaii Congresswoman Patsy Takemoto Mink. Titled "Patsy Mink: Ahead of the Majority," it captured the feisty Japanese American gal from Maui in her finest hours. Fierce and determined to 'right the wrongs' and bring about fairness for women, Patsy forever changed the way females were treated for scholarships and programs in higher education and athletics with her co-authored passage of "Title IX" which prohibited sex discrimination in those fields in 1972. Many talented and gifted young women benefited from this Bill since then. Kim noted that for every minute shown on this release, an average of sixty minutes of footage was reviewed and edited. Every documentation requires hours and days of research, personal interviews, and gathering of photos, film clips, and articles. This production took a few years to produce.

Another clip Kim shared was a personal one, about her great grandfather: "Lotus Root: A Great Granddaughter's Journey" (2010). She emphasized that he tried many things and not all were successful. But he was persistent and a survivor, who knew the challenges of racial discrimination of the times. One of the saddest events was the torching of Honolulu's Chinatown in 1900 when there was an outbreak of the bubonic plague. The Chinese were blamed for this and singled out for shameful treatment, and it led to the huge loss of businesses and properties and lives.

Kim's current project is on author of "The Rape of Nanking," Iris Chang. She is seeking funding for the production "Iris Chang: Power of One". For more information, please check her link: <https://irischangfilm.wedid.it/>

For more information: Kimberlee Bassford, director/producer
makingwavesfilms@gmail.com

Our Hawaii Chapter seems to be on a roll, helping our Chinese American female film producers. From Diane Mark, whose film "Picture Bride" won recognition at the Cannes Film Festival in 1994, to Robin Lung's "Finding KuKan" tracing the only Academy Award-winning film produced by Li Ling Ai, to Crystal Kwok and her amazing "Blurring the Color Line" which is still being shown at various venues throughout the United States, these efforts reach a wide swath of our general population and help to promote the recognition of the disparity of Asian Americans.

Have a happy and healthy summer, everyone! And again, we welcome our new National OCAW; President Maria Yang and are ever grateful to past President Christina Chang back in Washington, D.C.

Lum Sai Ho Tong
Celebrating Tin Hau
May 12th and 21st, 2023

Each year Lum Sai Ho Tong celebrates the birthday of our Gu-Po, our great grand auntie, Tin Hau. Born a Lum maiden named Lin Moniang, it was through her kindness and helping others that she is now celebrated throughout the world. She has been given over 20 official titles by Imperial China, but we at Lum Sai Ho Tong Hawaii (LSHT), recognize her as Tin Hau, Queen of Heaven.

This year LSHT held two celebrations, one at Tin Hau Temple and the other at Jade Dynasty Seafood Restaurant. At the temple, a traditional ceremony was performed by Rev. Duane Pang accompanied by a band of musicians. Prayers were given, food presented, and “money” sent to Heaven. Lucky participants were given bags of blessed rice and tea. On banquet day we carried a lit heung (incense pot) from the temple to an altar that we built for Tin Hau at the restaurant. Here, we invited Tin Hau to join us to celebrate a feast in her honor with over 200 guests in attendance. In all, we believe Tin Hau was very happy.

Associated Chinese University Women

Associated Chinese University Women continue to be active contributors to our diverse Honolulu community.

We collect and distribute food, sundries, and funds to the Hawaii Foodbank, the Women's Shelter, Ronald McDonald House, Shriner's Hospital, Public Health Institute of Hawaii, River of Life Mission, Navian Hawaii, and Palolo Chinese Home. Recently, our members cooked meals for forty families, spent hours of enjoyment teaching and playing Mah Jong with seniors at Kalakaua Gardens, and sewed and stuffed over 120 comforting cushions for hospice patients. We look forward to helping our senior members continue Chinese family traditions as well as educate our multi-racial membership to gain more knowledge about Chinese culture in Hawaii. One such activity is learning to cook delicious white cold ginger chicken and baking light and airy chiffon cakes in August and celebrating the fall moon at the end of September. A flyer is attached below for this public event.

We also recognize community service and scholarly achievement of youth with cash awards for historical research, science research, achievement in creative arts, and college scholarships. We will celebrate with our college bound students and families at our July 1st general membership meeting.

We welcome inquiries and new members as we move into our 93rd year as a non-profit organization.

If you have anything you would like to share for this e-newsletter, please email ucshicom@gmail.com. UCS reserves the right to review, edit, and reject any submissions for publication. No solicitations of any kind are allowed.
